National Wildlife Federation's Campus Ecology Program CALL FOR CASE STUDIES -- 2009-2010

CASE STUDY SUBMISSION GUIDELINES FOR GREEN WORKFORCE TRAINING PROGRAMS

(these guidelines are for green workforce training programs, if you would like to submit a case study on your on-campus sustainability project there are separate guidelines, please contact campus@nwf.org if you need a copy) Case studies can focus on completed programs or programs still in the development phase.

Each year the Campus Ecology program publishes case studies contributed by its members and partners showcasing their campus sustainability practices and global warming solutions for the past school year. NWF will release these illustrated reports in Fall 2010 in our online searchable case study database, one of our most popular resources (see <http://www.nwf.org/campusecology/resources/yearbook>).

The case study database is used by hundreds of students, staff, faculty and administrators who tell us that it's a source of inspiration and insight into the potentials of conservation and sustainability on their home campuses, in their communities and in the curriculum. It also serves as the primary outlet for Campus Ecology members and partners to document their accomplishments and gain national recognition. Colleges and universities throughout the U.S. have made great strides toward addressing global warming and protecting wildlife and habitat. We invite you to share your success stories, and let other campuses learn from you!

Submission Deadline: July 15, 2010

Publication: Fall 2010

WHAT'S REQUIRED?

Case study entries are made up of three parts: 1) the written case study narrative, 2) photos and 3) permission form. These must be submitted using the following formatting guidelines.
